

Questions:

1. What is the difference between loving peace and making peace?
2. What are some of your own obstacles to making peace?
3. What does the Google search say about our culture's perception of peacemaking?
4. In what ways can Christian practice sometimes negate peacemaking?
5. In what ways can Christian practice be an affirmation of peacemaking?
6. What does Kit's story say about peacemaking?
7. How can you be a peacemaker?

EPISODE TITLE: "Blessed Are The Peacemakers"

The Be@itudes, Episode 7

Featured Guest: Kit Evans

Argrow Kitnequa ("Kit") Evans grew up in Mebane, North Carolina and in the African Methodist Episcopal Church, in which her mother served as a minister. Kit graduated from the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, spending an honors semester on site at the Julliard School in New York studying theatre and the arts. "This opened my eyes to what the arts could do in educating about issues of social justice and even healing," she says. She taught special education in Washington, DC for two years while earning an MA in teaching at Trinity University. Kit continued her education receiving an MA in Social Justice and Community Development. She served as a peer outreach educator for the AIDS Projects of Southern Vermont before joining the US Peace Corps as a community development worker and being sent to the Caribbean. During the healing period that followed a sexual assault there, she became a motivational speaker for the National Association of Students Against Violence Everywhere and also decided upon seminary. She chose PSR after attending a Ministry as Vocation conference on campus.

Pneuma Divina Scripture: Matthew 5:9

9 'Blessed are the peacemakers, for they will be called children of God.'

The New Revised Standard Version (Anglicized Edition), copyright 1989, 1995 by the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America. Used by permission. All rights reserved.